Excerpt from Christian Science, "the Resurrection and the Life" A Lecture

There is perhaps one basic thought upon which all religionists agree at the very outset - namely, Consciousness is. We all assent to the fact that we are in a conscious state of being or existence, and that without such consciousness we would cease to exist. SO far, so good. But when we attempt to call this consciousness good, we immediately plunge into an abyss of darkness from which the Christian world for centuries has been struggling to extricate itself, that of mingling good and evil, calling evil good and good evil. This dualistic concept of consciousness has been the seeming cause of untold suffering and torment to the hu man race, It is evident then that from it human ity must escape if it would ever reach what is called heaven. Hence its need of a Saviour.
