These are the proceedings of CHES 2003, the 5th workshop on Cryptographic Hardware and Embedded Systems, held in Cologne on September 8-10, 2003. As with every previous workshop, there was a record number of submissions despite the much earlier deadline in this year's call for papers. This is a clear indication of the growing international importance of the scope of the conference and the relevance of the subject material to both industry and academia. The increasing competition for presenting at the conference has led to many excellent papers and a higher standard overall. From the 111 submissions, time constraints meant that only 32 could be accepted. The program committee worked very hard to select the best. However, at the end of the review process there were a number of good papers - which it would like to have included but for which, sadly, there was insufficient space. In addition to the accepted papers appearing in this volume, there were three invited presentations from Hans Dobbertin (Ruhr-Universität at Bochum, Germany), Adi Shamir (Weizmann Institute, Israel), and Frank Stajano (University of Cambridge, UK), and a panel discussion on the effectiveness of current hardware and software countermeasures against side channel leakage in embedded cryptosystems.
