Scholars have long stressed the problem of ornament and expression when considering Viennese modernism. By the first decade of the 20th century, however, the avant-garde had shifted its focus from the surface to the interior. Adolf Loos (1870–1933), together with Josef Frank (1885–1967) and Oskar Strnad (1879–1935), led this generation of architects to interpret modernism through culture and lifestyle. They were interested in the experience of architectural space: how it could be navigated, inhabited, and designed to reflect the modern way of life while also offering respite from it.

The New Space traces the theoretical conversation about space carried out in the writings and built works of Loos, Frank, and Strnad over four decades. The three ultimately explored what Le Corbusier would later—independently—term the architectural promenade. Lavishly illustrated with new photography and architectural plans, this important book enhances our understanding of the development of modernism and of architectural theory and practice.

Edward Franco:

As a university student exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher inquired them to go to the library or even make summary for some reserve, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's internal or real their hobby. They just do what the professor want, like asked to go to the library. They go to presently there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that examining is not important, boring along with can't see colorful pictures on there. Yeah, it is to become complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this era, many ways to get whatever we would like. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore , this The New Space: Movement and Experience in Viennese Modern Architecture can make you really feel more interested to read.
