Biochemistry Map (Lippincott's MedMaps) Saeid Karandish

This unique full-color wall chart takes an at-a-glance approach to understanding the complex associations of biochemical processes and related clinical entities. Composed of interrelated figures and diagrams, the Biochemistry Map simplifies hundreds of the most essential and frequently tested facts in molecular biology and biochemistry. Each enzyme is color-coded to match with related clinical entities, allowing students to view complex associations simultaneously. This material is usually presented in separate chapters in textbooks, making it hard for students to understand the "domino effect" of interrelated biochemical processes. The Biochemistry Map enables faster memorization, easier integration of concepts, and facilitates a rapid overview to help students prepare for USMLE Step 1.
